Exchange of Information (Medical Information Bureau)

I understand that if I refuse to sign this authorization, any of the insurance companies or life settlement companies named above may not be able to process my application, or if coverage has been issued, may not be to make any benefit payments. The underwriting process (evaluation of risks) is necessary not only to assure that you pay the lowest possible cost for your insurance, but also to assure that each policyholder contributes his fair share of the cost. In considering your application, information from various sources must therefore be considered. These may include the results of your physical examination and any reports we may receive from doctors and hospitals who have attended you.

Information regarding your insurability will be treated as confidential. Any one of the life insurance companies listed or its reinsurers may, however, make a brief report thereon to the Medical Information Bureau, a non-profit membership organization of life insurance companies, which operates an information exchange on behalf of its members. If you apply to another Bureau member company for life or health insurance coverage, or a claim for benefits is submitted to such a company, the Bureau, upon request, will supply such company with the information it may have in its file.

Upon receipt of a request from you, the Bureau will arrange disclosure of any information it may have in your file. If you question the accuracy of information in the Bureau's file, you may contact the Bureau and seek a correction in accordance with the procedures set forth in the Federal Fair Credit Reporting Act. The address of the Bureau's information office is Post Office Box 105, Essex Station, Boston, Massachusetts 02112, telephone number (617) 426-3660. Any one of the life insurance companies listed may also release information on their file to their reinsuring companies or to other life insurance companies to whom you may apply for life or health insurance or to whom a claim for benefits may be submitted.

The purpose of the Bureau is to protect its members and their policyholders from bearing the expense created by those who would conceal facts relevant to their insurability. Information furnished by the Bureau may alert the insurer to the possible need for further investigation, but under Bureau rules cannot be used as the basis for evaluating risks. The Bureau is not a repository of medical reports from hospitals and physicians, and information in the Bureau file does not reveal whether applications for insurance are accepted, rated or declined.

Notice of Information Practices

In the course of properly underwriting and administering your in force insurance coverage, the listed insurance companies will rely primarily on information provided by you. The companies may also seek information from others, such as medical professionals who have treated you. In some cases, they may ask a consumer reporting agency to collect information and submit an investigative consumer report to them. You have the right to request to be interviewed in connection with the preparation of that report. You may receive a copy of the report by contacting the consumer reporting agency as explained above.

In some situations, and in compliance with applicable law, the insurance companies may disclose necessary items of information to third parties who provide insurance administration services on your behalf without your specific authorization. These parties are contractually bound to only use your information to perform those services. They cannot use it for marketing purposes.

You have the right to be told about, and to see and copy if you wish, items of personal information about you which appear in the insurance companies' files. You also have the right to seek correction of information you believe to be inaccurate.
